SITTY OV GOLDSBORO'.

Goldsboro' is a sitty.

It hez sum 2 thousan denizens uv aul kullers, male end feemyale, hoo er of varyeous manners end habits.

The feemyales er pertikerli markt in thur ekumplishments, end tho fu ef enni would pozitivli bite, ez far ez I kno, some ken sho ez purti ivories as an elepha—no. a rhinos—tush! a hippipotimis, tho not near so large. I tell you, sum on em hez purti teeth end sweet attraktiv lips. I shude say I knoo, but you must not kiss and tell. These I describe ez the ladi porshun of our sittizens, end tho nun on em persume to be of the Betsy Ann Juli Cithiana Dickinson style, or dress in the Bloomer costume (tho sum when securely harnass'd in the matrimonyal gear are said to wear the breeches), yet tha are nice; and when I say so it speaks volumes.

Now I shel make an attemp to describe the sturnur sex. Our sitty contains a few gentlemen—I would be truthful—it hez a few, and it also hez ruffs in an invere rasho, which makes the matter kleer to a mathematikul sertenti. End talking of Mathematicks I should have said, before going so far, that its crossings er aul at right angles, end the spaces they enclose er cauld blox. Thar is thirty 6 blox more or less which are chiefly appropriated to the raising of houses and garden sass.

There are 3 mean men in this burg, and I do think we could not well get along with less. Who these 3 individuals er I wont sa. They kno thurselves, and I kno and I set this down ez the minnymum under that kapshin. Et I gave you the maximum you would stare.

We hev sum sittyzens here of both kullers, as alreddi observed, and sum a mixtur. The mixt ones aint no kumlier than they should be, being produced under ruther onfavorable surkumstanses. This is the hull of Goldsboro', excepting we hev got R. R's end Tellygraffs.

'SARCHIN' WID A LANTERN.'

Two Irishmen, stopping at the Island House, Toledo, lit their gas, and, with windows open sat down to enjoy a chat. The hungriest of Toledo musquitoes soon flocked in and drove them desperate. The clerk, who was summoned to devise some defence against them, told them to close the windows and put out the gas. They acted on the suggestion, and placed themselves between the sheets. Just as they began to doze a lightning bug, which had strayed into the room, caught the eye of one of the travelers. He roused his companion with a punch. 'Jamie, Jamie, it's no use! Here's one of the craturs sarchin' for us wid a lantern!'

A BACHELOR merchant's advice in selecting a wife, says: "get hold of a piece of calico that will wash."

"JIM'S LOST LOVE."

I met her by the seller door—
The look she give was cold and sturn;
Her eyes looked pitchforks into mine—
And mine looked pison into hern.

For we had loved in days gone by;
Her daddy said that I might take her;
But, alas! for my dreme of wedded bliss,
She got up and got with a Dutch Shoemaker.

No more girls for me if I knows it—
No more frauds me luv to dim;
In the words of the poet, "Not for Joseph,"
And he might have added, "Not for Jim."

ANIMATED NATURE.

BY JINGO.

THE ANT iz the inkle of all his little neffewses and neeces. Solomin refers to the ant in the scripters.—He ses, ses he, go to the ant thou sluggard. He doubtless ment them that wanted to git off tite butes which can be effected by standing in an ants' nest. The ant resembles ritches in one respec. He sometimes take wing's and fly away—tu which he is always welcome.

THE WHALE iz unusually employed in the ile business. He has the satisfaction of knowing that he iz the biggest fish in the sea. And if there iz any bigger fish, he's which. The whale once tuck a dose of Jonah, but it proved such a powerful emotic that he couldn't retain him on his stomick. He struck ile, which was effectual.

THE SNAKE was created fuss in the order of creation, but he created such a fuss in the garden of Eden that he iz now the tail eend of all humanity. The snake usually gets his head bruised by the chidren of men, when he shows it. This rool does not apply to the black snake. If you suckceed in touching the black snakes tail with a nine foot rail you du well.

THE REDBUG delights in entering your flesh but you "kant see it." When the redbug was made material was scarce, or he wood have been made larger.

THE ALYGATER iz a cross betwixt the soff shell turtle and the cross-cut saw. He inherited the pecooliarities of the one and the teeth of the other. The alygator will lay all day on a log waitin tu show you how he can dive. His principle diet iz lightwood, hogg and dogg; his affeckshin for the latter, are not however reciprocated.

In one of our large cities a short time ago a Western editor was met by a friend, who taking him by the hand, exclaimed:

'I am delighted to see you. How long are you going to stay?'

'Why I think,' said the editor, I shall stay while my money lasts.'

'How disappointed I am,' said the friend, 'I hoped you were going to stay a day or two.'

Rhyming Grammar,

(CONCLUDED)

CORDIALLY DEDICATED to THE READERS OF THE KU KLUX KALEIDOSCOPE.

BY A LOVER OF STUDIOUS BOYS.

We now take up the Preposition,
Which has these marks of recognition:
With nouns it makes sense, thus, to Peter,
For John, by Thomas, with the creetur;
With pronouns thus—in it, about her,
According to Hoyle, by us, without her,
Around me, over us, beside you—
Examples could be mutiplied, you
But understand, and clearly know,
How things related are they show.
How many parts of speech, now say,
Have we enumerated, pray?
Noun, Pronoun, Adjective and Verb,
Preposition, and Adverb;
That's six, tho' writers reckon more,
Some eight, some nine, some half a score;
But if six all words comprehend,
'Tis useless farther to extend.
The Noun, and Pronoun, are declined,
The Adjectives compar'd, but mind,
Some Adverbs have comparison,
But Verbs have conjugation,
The which in grammars may be found
In Bullions, Kirkham, Smith, or Brown.
Now having sung the parts of speech,
'Twere needless we should further teach
Unless repaid for time and trouble,
(And we'd esteem it more than double—
Aye, trebly worth the time we spend
If boys should but attention lend.)
Meantime, in bidding you good-bye,
None aught can learn who do not try,
What's useful, slow of growth is found,
The true which longest keeps the ground,
Is always in maturing slow,
As all deudritic critics know,
And "A man without learning," as Cato doth say,
"May well be compar'd to an image of clay."

A colored firm having suffered some pecuniary embarrasments closed business, and the senior member gave the public the following note:

"Desolution of coparships heretofore resisting twixt me and Moses Jones de barber profession, am heretofore received. Pussons who oes must pay de scriber. Dem what de firm oes must call on Jones, as de firm is insolved."

A little four year old had long been vainly endeavoring to pucker his mouth into shape for the whistling of a national tune he had heard upon the streets. At last, in despair, he went to his mother, exclaiming:

"Ma, I's so little, I can't make a hole big enough for Yankee Doolum to dit out."

A Boston spinster, at a recent woman's rights convention, said she did not care about female suffrage unless it carried with it the right to make proposals of marriage. A good Union woman, that.

EIGHTEEN ALLEDGED DESPERADOES CAPTURED AT ONE HAUL!

SCENE OF ACTION----LENOIR COUNTY!

TWO OF THE PARTY TURN STATE'S EVIDENCE.

We learn from the Newbern Times of Wednesday, that Capt. Mowers. of that city, who has been acting as a detective since the first of April last, fereted out and, after summoning necessary assistance, captured a nest of assassins and murderers in Lenoir County.

The prisoners, eighteen in number, arrived at Newberne on Tuesday, under charge of Detective Mowers, Sheriff Hunter, and several others who assisted in the capture, and were immediately conveyed to the jail.

The names of the prisoners are: James Wiggins, Thos. Waters, Sr., Wm. Coker, Marion Sutton, Alex. Sutton, Nathan Sutton, Richard Sutton, James Daily, W. B. Nelson, J. L. Parker, Wm. Wiggins, Wm. Pool, Alex. Dawson, J. T. Sugg, R. F. Hill, Egbert Hill, Everett Hill, and Benj. Jones.

Another man named Redding Hines, fired into the band that went to arrest him, leaped from a window and escaped.

We suppose the capture was effected more easily than it would otherwise have been, had not two of the party turned State's evidence.

It is supposed says the Times, that jail brakers and murderers of prisoners in Lenoir have at last been captured and if so every law loving citizen will wish to see them summarily punished.

Too much credit cannot be given to Capt. Mowers for his persistent and untiring effort to bring the criminals to justic, and if the men who are now in custody are proven to be the guilty parties, he has done the country and the State great and lasting service.

THE EVENING HERALD.—The first issue of the Evening Herald published in Norfolk, Va., by Col. S. D. Pool, formerly of the Newbern Journal of Commerce, made its appearance on Monday evening last, the 23d instant. It is an able edited and neatly printed journal, and is published at 6.00 per year.

☞ Go to Mahood & Duffey's and have your Boots and Shoes for Fall and Winter made.

POSTPONED.—The Grand Drawing of the N. C. Real and Personal Estate Agency advertised to take place today, has been indefinitely postponed, by order of the Board of Directors, "in order to remodel the scheme to meet the urgent and almost numberless demands of the patrons of the Company, who are desirous that Real Estate Prizes may take the places of those of a personal character." This move on the part of the Directors will, in our opinion, prove injurious to the Company, and tend to lessen the confidence of the people.

TONSORIAL.—Our old friend, and popular Barber, Mr. Jas. G. Smith, who has been doing business in Newbern for two or three months past, has again returned to Goldsboro', and, as many of his former patrons will, perhaps, be pleased to known, has opened a "First-Class Shaving and Hair-Dressing Saloon," second door south of the Post Office, where he is prepared to execute all work entrusted to his care. Give him a call.

The Kaleidoscope says that the man who "tried to sweeten his coffee with one of his wife's smiles has fallen back on sugar." We'll bet four pence if he were to sour his cabbage with one after the "honeymoon" is over, he would never "fall back" on vinegar.—Wilmington Star.

Well, who said he would? But, Mr. Star we should be very, very careful in our conversation on this subject, for, as you are well aware, we cannot afford to allow the ladies to get down on us. If they do we are "ruint ooman's." That's all.

The Bonaville Trumpet says, a chap now living in Algiers, who was out in the late "little unpleasantness," sent his "lady love" a "bokay" with a kard, upon which was the following:

"Accept this bokay from a feller
Who oft has herd the kannon beller;
Has listened to fifes a too-ten,
And helped to do a heap of shooten:
Has seen the smoke of powder rise,
Like black ducks when they flies;
Who now is bigger than his dad,
And wants to marry mitey bad."

PACHES WID LEGS.—On board the steamship San Jacinto, which went ashore on Body Island while on her trip from New York to Savannah, a few weeks since, were two sons of Erin, who, with the other passengers, succeeded in landing safely. While exploring the island they came across a peach tree. One ascended the tree to shake the peaches down, and while up there he found a small tree frog which he swallowed, and called down:

"Yerra, Paddy, have paches got legs?"

"No," replied his companion.

"Then, be gorra, I've swallowed a straddle bug."

Hard on the bug, that.

A LADY passing along the street one morning last week, noticed a little boy scattering salt upon the sidewalk.

"Well, I am sure," said the lady, "this is real benevolence."

"No it aint," said the boy it's real salt."

PAT AND THE POST OFFICE CLERK.

'Faith. an' have ye a letter for me, yer honor?'

'What name?' asked the urbane official.

'Why, me own name, av course. Whose else?'

'What is your name?' continued the official, still urbane.

'Faith an' it was my father's afore me; an' would be yet, but he's gone dead.'

'Confound you what do you call yourself!' losing his temper.

'Bedad,' said Pat, firmly, 'I call meself a gentleman, an' it's pity there ain't two of us.'

'Stand back!' commanded the official with dignity.

'The divil aback I'll stand until I gets me letther.'

'How can I give it to you if you won't tell me who you are stupid, thick-headed bog-trotter.'

'An' is that what you're paid for—abusin' honest people that comes for their rights? Gi' me the letther, or be the whiskers o' Kate Kerney's cat, I'll cast me vote agin you when I git me paper.'

'You blundering blockhead,' broke in the now really angry clerk, 'can't you tell me how your letter is addressed?

'Dressed? How should it be dressed barrin' in a sheet of paper, like any other? Come; hand me, avic.'

'The deuce take you! won't you tell me who you are?'

'Faith, I'm an Irishman bred and born, seed, breed and generation. Me father was cousin to one eyed Harry Mawra, the process-sarver; an' me moother belonged to the Mooneys, of Kilmathonad. You're an ignorant ould disciple; an' av you'll only creep out of yer hole, I'll welt yer hide like an old shoe. An' av yer get any satisfaction out o' me, me name's not Barney O'Flynn.'

'Oh! that's ysur name, is it?' said the satisfied official, seizing and shuffling a pile of letters. 'There's your letter.'

A person invited an acquaintauce to dinner on the 30th of September, saying he always had a geose at dinner on Michælmas Day.

JOSH BILLINGS ON HENS.

The best time to set a hen iz when the hen iz ready. I kant tell what the best breed is, but the Shanghigh iz the meanest. It costs az much tu bord one az it dos a stage hoss, and you might as well try tu fatt a fannin mill by runnin oats thru it. There aint no profit in keeping a hen for his eggs, if he laz less than one a day.—Hens iz very long lived if they don't kontract the throat dizease. There is a great many goes to pot every year by this melancholy disease. I kant tell eggzactly how tu pick out a good hen; but as a general thing, the long eared ones I know are the least apt tu skratch up a garden. Eggz packed in ekal partz of salt and lime will keep from 20 to 30 years, if they are not disturbed. Fresh beef-steak iz good for henz. I suppose 4 or 5 pounds a day is all a hen would require at fust. I shall be happy to advise you at any time on the hen question and take it in eggs.

THE RIDDLER.

LIKE an old lady I am named,
But am not like a lady framed.
I am little, she is big,
I have no hair, she a wig;
She can scold, but I cannot,
I dwell in a hill, she in a cot.
Were I as big and strong as she,
Few would like to meet with me.
Since these relations mark us two,
What relation is she to you?

2.

To a word of consent, add one half of a fright,
Next subjoin what you never behold in the night;
These rightly connected, you'll quickly obtain
What millions have seen, but will ne'er see again.

3.

I AM composed of nineteen letters.

My 13, 9, 6, 4, 15, 6 is what Adam was after his fall.

My 4, 17, 10, 1 is a money-making concern.

My 9, 6, 18, 8, 17, 11, 15, 7, 1 can make bricks and stones appear beautiful.

My 14, 17, 7, 3 is a useful tool and a great evil.

My 4, 12, 11, 8, 19, 6 is a near relation.

My 2, 12, 5, 19 is a desirable place of residence.

My 4, 12, 16, 9, 6, 18, 8 is something that abounds in Europe, and is exceedingly scarce in America.

My 8, 19, 9, 14, 5, 10 is rarely found on this earth except by lovers; nor found off of the earth except by the loving.

My 4, 19, 9, 1, 3, 9, 11, 15, 6 is a compound word describing man.

My whole is the name of a celebrated old play.

4.

I'm a widely-famed country—the home of the rose,
Where bliss is the voice of all nature—transpose,
And you'll find that of which very few are afraid,
But too often the spring of our actions is made.
Transpose me again, till you bring to your view
What all, when they strive to be mightier, do.

One day 12, 7, 2, 3, 5 lost his way in the 4, 2, 7, 5, but happily he found himself at the door of a 12, 7, 10, 11, 3, 4 named 12, 7, 6, 4, 11, 7, 10, 8, 5, who placed him in a 8, 9, 2, 10, 7 by the comfortable 12, 10, 7, 6. LOOK OUT FOR THE FOOL-KILLER. It is rumored that another Fool-Killer has just been appointed, (the original one, Tom Jones, having been killed during the late war,) and will immediately commence operations in this section. There seems to be a dearth, just at this time, in business generally, but we think Mr. Fool Killer's occupation will prove an exception to the general rule. Again we say look out for the Fool-Killer!

DOTY'S WASHING MACHINE,

LATELY MUCH IMPROVED—AND THE NEW

Universal Clothes Wringer

Improved with ROWELL'S PATENT DOUBLE COG WHEELS, and the PATENT STOP, are now unquestionably far superior to any apparatus for washing clothes ever invented, and will save their cost twice a year, by saving labor and clothes.

Those who have used them give testimony as follows:

"We like our machine much; could not be persuaded to do without it, and with the aid of Doty, we feel that we are masters of the position."—Rev. L. Scott Bishop M. E. Church.

"It is worth one dollar a week in any family."—N. Y. Tribune,

"In the laundry of my house there is a perpetual thanksgiving on Mondays for the invention."—Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler.

"Every week has given it a stronger hold upon the affections of the inmates of the laundry."—N. Y. Observer.

"I heartily commend it to economists of time, money, and contentment."—Rev. Dr. Bellows.

"Friend Doty—Your last improvement of your Washing Machine is a complete success. I assure you 'our Machine,' after a year's use, is thought more of to-day than ever, and would not be parted with under any circumstances."—Solon Robinson.

"Your Washing Machine has been in daily use in our laundry, and the housekeeper expresses herself as highly pleased with it. It certainly accomplishes a greater amount of work, with less labor, and does not wear the clothes near so much as the old fashioned wash-board. By using it, one laundress is dispensed with"—Wm. M. F. Round, Superintendeat of Infant Department of St. Catharine's Nursery, N. Y. City.

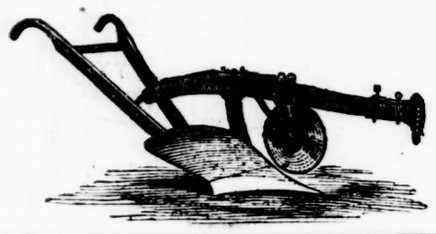
AGRICULTURAL.



HOW TO FATTEN A POOR HORSE.

Many good horses devour large quantities of grain and hay, and still continue thin and poor. The food eaten is not properly assimilated. If the usual feed has been unground grain and hay. nothing but a change will effect any desirable alteration in the appearance of the animal. In case oil meal cannot be obtained readily, mingle a bushel of flax-seed with a bushel of barley, one of oats, and another bushel of Indian corn, and let it be ground into fine meal.—This will be a fair proportion for all his feed. Or the meal of barley, oats and corn in equal quantities, may first be procured, and one-fourth part of oil cake mingled with it, when the meal is sprinkled on cut feed. Feed two or three quarts of the mixture three times daily, mingled with a peck of cut hay and straw. If the horse will eat that amount greedily, let the quantity be gradually increased until he will eat four or six quarts at every feeding, three times a day. So long as the animal will eat this allowance, the quantity may be increased a little every day. But avoid the practice of allowing a horse to stand at a rack well filled with hay. In order to fatten a horse that has ran down in flesh, the groom should be very particular to feed the animal no more than he will eat up clean and lick the manger for more.

FARM PROVERBS.

Do not keep more live stock on your farm than you can keep well.

House all things as much as possible—animals, utensils, and crops.

Sell them when you can get a fair price, and do not store for rats and speculation.

The more comfortable you can keep your animals the more they will thrive.

A good cow is a valuable machine—the more food she properly digests the greater the profit.

A few roots daily to the stock are as welcome as apples to boys and girls.

Iron shoes on sleds last a lifetime. They are really cheaper in the end than wooden ones.

Replace all the bars when you pass often by strong gates, and then wonder that you didn't do so before.

Although in draining land thoroughly your purse may be drained, yer the full crops that follow will soon fill it again.

Always give the soil the first meal. If it is well fed with manure it will feed all else, plants, animals and men.

SNAPS.

"Variety is the Spice of Life."

An editor speaking of a drink he once had occasion to indulge in, says he couldn't tell whether it was brandy or a torchlight procession going down his throat.

"Well, John, did you take the note I gave you to Mr. Smithers?"

"Yes sir, I took the note, but I don't think he can read it."

"Cannot read it; why so, John?"

"Because he is so blind, sir. While I wor in the room he axed me where my hat was, and it wor on my head all the time."

A gipsy woman promised to show two young ladies their husband's faces in a pail of water. They looked and exclaimed—

"Why, we only see our faces."

"Well," said the gipsy, "those faces will be your husbands' when you are married."

A very small pattern of a man lately solicited the hand of a fine buxom girl in marriage:

'Oh, no,' said the fair lady, 'I can't think of it for a moment. The fact is, Henry, you are a little too big to put in a cradle and a little too small to put in a bed!'

A gentleman having given a grand party, his tailor was among the company, and was thus addressed by his lordship:

'My dear sir, I remember your face, but I forgot your name.'

The tailor whispering in a low tone—'I made your breeches.'

The nobleman taking him by the hand, exclaimed—

'Major Breeches, I am happy to see you.'

A son of Erin, while hunting for rabbits, come across a jackass in the woods, and shot him. "By me soul and St. Patrick," he exclaimed, "I've kilt the father of all rabbits."

Man's greatest poverty arises from his artificial wants; it is not the real necessaries of life which cost the majority so much labor; it is the needless trimmings—the depraved appetites.

"Sambo, where is your master?"—"Gone out." "Has he left off drinking yet?" "Oh yes! he leave off two, three times dis mornin."

Say, Pomp, you nigger, where you get dat new hat?"

"Why, at de shop, ob course."

"What is de price of such an article as dat?"

"I don't know, nigger—I don't know, the shopkeeper wasn't dar."

A young man in Chicopee, who attempted to kiss a young lady; slipped and fell, losing his kiss and two front teeth. Poor fellow? And what a disappointment to the young lady.

The following notice was posted up in the county of Kent: "Notice is hereby given, that the Marquis of Camden (on account of the backwardness of the harvest) will not shoot himself nor any of his tenants till the 14th of September."

Mrs. Speckles says that the best vegetable pill that has yet been invented to destroy a gnawing at the stomach is an apple dumpling. It is the only pill that can be relied on.

TEMPERANCE DEPARTMENT.

"Trust in God, and do the Right"

Fayetteville.—We learn from the Fayetteville Eagle that Bro. Brooks, State Lecturer, delivered an earnest and entertaining address in that town, on Monday evening the 16th inst., before a large and intelligent audience, mostly composed of young men and youths, and that at the conclusion of the address a Council of Friends of Temperance was organized by a large number of persons who were in the Hall and a subsequent meeting at the Methodist Church was appointed for the election of officers. It will be a matter of general congratulation to the public, says the Eagle, to learn that an efficient organization of the kind has been formed in this town, with the intention of exercising a good and pure moral influence upon those persons whose age and associations subject them to temptations to dissipation. Drunkenness is growing to be the great overshadowing curse of the land, and good citizens should lend all movements looking to its voluntary abolition their full and enthusiastic countenance and support.

The Promise Kept.—The following from an exchange is worth reading. A mother, on the green hills of Vermont, was holding by her right hand a son sixteen years old, mad with the love of the sea. And as she stood by the garden gate one morning; she said: "Edward, they tell me, for I never saw the ocean, that the great temptation of a seaman's life is to drink. Promise me, before you quit your mother's hand, that you will never drink." "And," said he, (for he told me the story,) "I gave her the promise, and I went the broad globe over, Calcutta and the Mediterranean, San Francisco, the cape of Good Hope the North Pole and the South, I saw them all in forty years, and I never saw a glass filled with sparkling liquor that my mother's form by the gate did not rise before me; and to-day I am innocent of the taste of liquor." Was not that sweet evidence of the power of a single word? Yet this was not half. "For," said he, "yesterday there came into my counting room a man of 40 years and asked me, 'Do you know me?' 'No.'

'Well,' said he 'I was once brought drunk into your presence on shipboard; you were a passenger; the captain kicked me aside; you took me to your berth and kept me there till I had slept off the intoxication; you then asked me if I had a mother. I said I had never known a word from her lips. You told me of yours at the garden gate, and to-day I am master of one of the finest packets in New York; and I came to ask you to come and see me."

If a toper and a bottle of whiskey were put together, which would be drunk first?
